

Medical Writer - Anatomic Pathology

Classification: FLSA Exempt (US Only)

Reports To: Scientific Marketing Manager

Application Link: Apply Here

Summary

Under the general direction of Scientific Marketing Manager, the Medical Writer-Anatomic Pathology will assist in the development of scientific and medical communications and marketing materials intended for readership within anatomic pathology, including pathologists, laboratory managers, and histotechnologists.

Duties and Responsibilities

- Responsible for developing and submitting a variety of scientific and medical content for internal and external print, and website communications
- Collaborate with Marketing Team to promote internal and external communications
- Maintain social media calendar and support digital advertising efforts
- Write, edit, and proofread articles such as white papers, application notes, case studies, abstracts, posters, and oral and visual presentations for style and content
- Prepare figures and illustrations for marketing publications
- Conduct review of scientific and medical literature and summarizes findings
- Researching and staying current with new and emerging trends in clinical pathology
- Responsible for the appropriate accessing and handling of electronic Protected Health Information (PHI) as outlined by policy and the Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act (HIPAA)
- This job description is not designed to cover or contain a comprehensive listing of activities, duties, or responsibilities that are required of the employee. Duties, responsibilities, and activities may change, or new ones may be assigned at any time with or without notice.

Minimum Qualifications

- Bachelor's degree in a scientific discipline such as Biology, Molecular and Cellular Biology, or Pathology
- 2 years of domain expertise in pathology with a clear understanding of the roles and workflow within the anatomic pathology laboratory
- 2 years demonstratable experience with grant applications, scientific publications, abstract and poster submissions or other forms of scientific or medical writing (writing samples will be required for all candidates)
- Aptitude to learn a suite of technical digital pathology products

- Experience using computer-based tools (Microsoft Office, Adobe applications, webpage design tools etc)
- Oral and written communication skills
- Excellent organization, analytical, and interpersonal skills required
- Authorization to work in the United States, or appropriate authorization to work in the applicant's current home country (Indica Labs, Inc. does not sponsor work visas)
- Indica Labs is a Federal Contractor, so candidates within the United States should expect a requirement for full vaccination against COVID-19

Preferred Qualifications

- Advanced degree (MS, MD or PhD) in a scientific discipline such as Biology, Molecular and Cellular Biology, or Pathology
- Experience in diverse pathology laboratory settings such as reference labs, hospital labs, specialty labs, and surgical pathology labs
- Demonstrable discipline specific qualification and certifications
- Demonstrated knowledge of social media communications, podcasts, and blogs
- Experience with two or more of the following: LIS/LIMS, microscopy, digital pathology, image analysis, artificial intelligence

Knowledge, Skills, and Abilities

- Ability to speak clearly for understanding
- Ability to identify and understand speech of another person
- Ability to read and understand information and ideas presented in writing
- Excellent writing skills with the ability to write for a broad audience of varying reading levels

Location

Remote position; US and European locations will be considered.

Working Conditions and Physical Effort

- No, or limited physical effort required
- No, or limited exposure to physical risk
- Work is normally performed in a typical interior/office work environment

Indica Labs, Inc. is proud to be an Equal Employment Opportunity and Affirmative Action employer. We take pride in providing equal employment opportunities to all employees and applicants regardless of their race, color, creed, religion, gender, age, sexual orientation, national origin, disability, veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by state, federal, or local law. Additionally, it is standard company policy to provide reasonable accommodations to qualified individuals who have protected disabilities to the extent required by applicable laws. All candidates will be required to submit unofficial transcripts as a condition of application. Due to the nature of our business, and to meet United States Federal, State, and international requirements, final selected candidates must pass a background check for employment.